McQuay International provided a Gas Grill to be awarded as a door prize. It was won by Jeremy Goodroad (West Plains Engineering).

After lunch and the awarding of prizes, Scott Springfield Mfg. sponsored a closest to the pin competition. All three attempts made it on the green! Barry Nielsen (G & R Controls) won first place, with Damon deWit (Associated Consulting Engineering) placing second and Sean Wheeler (Wheeler Tank Manufacturing) in third.

Finally, O'Connor Group sponsored a chance at a $1,000,000 Hole In One prize. Damon deWit (Associated Consulting Engineering) wasn't done yet! He won the chance to take a shot at it. No million dollars this time. Maybe next year!
